

MEMORIAL TO GEN. MEADE

GROUND BROKEN BY DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS.

Gen. Miles Declares Meade to be One of the Outstanding Figures of the Civil War.

On Tuesday occurred the breaking of ground for the construction of a memorial to General George Gordon Meade, the hero of Gettysburg in the city of Washington. The monument will be erected in the National Botanical Garden and will face the Grant memorial and these two memorials will form the only decoration of the plot at the foot of the Capitol, as the Botanical Gardens will be removed next year.

President Harding turned the first spadeful of ground at the exercises and the next spadeful was taken out by Chief Justice Taft, Governor Sproul, George Gordon Meade, a grandson of the commander, participated in the breaking of the ground. Brief speeches were made by Secretary of War Weeks, Governor Sproul and Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

Secretary Weeks in part said: "His victory at Gettysburg proved to be the turning point in the Civil War. When our minds revert to that period and to the distinguished men who successfully commanded the Northern armies, the ones whose names occur first to us, perhaps in the order named, are Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Thomas and Meade. Suitable memorials have already been erected in Washington to the first four and to that most distinguished volunteer, General John A. Logan. Of the heroes of the Civil War, I think it is generally agreed that Meade stands at the head of those remaining who were conspicuously instrumental in bringing the war to a successful conclusion.

"I wish to express two thoughts which have application to his career. He had reached middle life in the service of the Government in a relatively minor military grade and in a service which did not give him conspicuous position, yet his reputation was so thoroughly established through his character and his ability to perform the duties assigned to him that at the beginning of the Civil War he was almost immediately made a Brigadier General of Volunteers, although his life work had been as an engineer and but a short part of his army service had been with troops.

"Without scheming on his part or the efforts of political or other friends, but based wholly on his service at the battle front, where he took part in substantially every engagement in which the Army of the Potomac was engaged, he was advanced to the grade of Major General, from the command of a brigade to that of a division and a corps, and in those June days of 1863 when the Government was looking for a suitable man to take command of the army in the great crisis facing the nation, General Meade was the man selected to meet that emergency and bring the terrific three days' battle to a successful conclusion.

"It would probably be impossible to picture the state of mind of that modest, retiring, though self-contained man when he found himself placed in such position, hardly knowing the location of the different bodies of troops under his command, and reaching the great battlefield in the night of the first day of that contest to find two of his army corps defeated, defeated after terrible fighting, and the necessity or an immediate disposition of arriving troops to successfully meet the onslaught sure to come the next day. But character and skill which he had gained during his service came to his aid, and the dispositions made during the night of that fatal day brought about a great victory and forever made the people of the United States his debtors.

Governor Sproul recalled that Gen. Meade was of "Pennsylvania ancestry, citizenship, and training. And the battle which distinguished him took place on Pennsylvania soil, he added. "His record as a commander of the Army of the Potomac is filled with the great events of the Civil War."

General Miles recalled the life of General Meade and pronounced him one of the outstanding figures of the Civil War and the commander at one of the critical battles in world history. "General Meade," he said, "has never received proper recognition for his great achievements, yet this memorial will stand here for ages in the world's great capital and his memory will be cherished and revered in the hearts of a grateful people."

UNIFORM AID TO HOSPITALS.

System Devised by Dr. Baldy, Public Welfare Commissioner.

The Annie M. Warner Hospital will come under the new budget system of the State inaugurated this week. This uniform budget system of accounting was announced on Tuesday by Dr. John M. Baldy, Commissioner of the Department of Public Welfare, who recently visited our hospital. The new system is effective as of March 1.

The new system specifies receipts and disbursements by the individual patients, by departments and by purpose. Dr. Baldy said, will mean that the State can ascertain the exact amount it should pay a given institution on the basis of the number of charity and part-time patients. In the past hospitals in making reports had given the gross expenditures, including interest on borrowed money, but under the uniform system all hospitals must report on the exact amounts disbursed for charity and pay on that basis. For that reason, Dr. Baldy explained, it will be not only legal but feasible to make payments to sectarian institutions proportionate to the amount of charity work accomplished.

The unit of service is the day's hospital treatment; the unit of cost is the daily average cost per patient for hospital treatment. The application for aid must set forth the number of days of free service and a detailed statement of the cost of rendering such service. Such a procedure in recommending the amount of aid to be appropriated by the General Assembly necessitates adequate, reliable and uniform records and reports for the institutions desiring it.

While many of the hospitals of the State already have complete accounting systems, it is true that many others are not prepared to furnish the Department of Public Welfare with the data it will be necessary to have in considering their applications for appropriations. It is for that reason it was deemed essential that a uniform system of accounting be devised and furnished to all of the hospitals of the State which contemplate aid from the General Assembly.

At the same time it was fully appreciated that a uniform system of accounting would be of great value to keep a careful check not only on its expenditures, but on its cost of service one month with another. Because all hospitals will be classifying their items of expense in keeping with a uniform scheme, a comparison of costs, one hospital with another, will be possible. Such a comparison is often a revelation to a superintendent, resulting in marked changes in his policy of administration. Often it is the means of justifying an argument for a greater expenditure or the basis of an appeal to the public for more liberal financial support. For these and many other reasons the department felt fully justified in providing each hospital with a uniform financial record book.

Handsome Bank Building.

On last Friday evening the Littlestown National Bank had a housewarming over the opening of their handsome new bank building in Littlestown. Fully 2,200 people were guests at the reception. The building was erected at a cost of $75,000 and has taken a year to erect.

The building is constructed of Vermont marble of a Grecian style the front cornice being supported by four large marble pillars. On either side of the front entrance stands a beautiful bronze light standard surmounted by a cluster of lights. The interior of the bank is constructed of highly polished Italian marble for the base and counter screen and Tennessee marble as flooring, while the woodwork is of mahogany.

The main banking room is 34 by 74 feet. All modern equipment is used for keeping the accounts of the institution and includes electric adding machine and automatic change machines.

Among the unique features of the new building are a public reception room and a ladies' rest room. The former will be utilized by customers where they may meet and conduct business. It is equipped with mahogany furniture. The ladies' rest room has furniture of an old English design.

Many Town Folks Hear Miss Ring.

CYCLOPS' RIDDLE SOLVED

SEA GIVE SUP BOTTLE TELLING HOW COLLIER WAS SUNK.

Bert J. Asper Was on the Cyclops and Now Find Answers Other Questions.

The navy collier Cyclops disappeared at sea in 1917 and not a word has been heard for nearly five years of the fate of the vessel. On that boat was Dr. Bert J. Asper, a near relative of Dennis and Charles Asper of Aspers, this county.

The collier, Cyclops, was bound from a Chilean port for the United States with a cargo of nitrates when she disappeared. An extensive search has been conducted but no trace has ever been found. The Cyclops was believed to have gone down in a heavy squall or storm, but there had been no wireless from the vessel of any trouble.

The sea gave up an answer to this war riddle this week in the shape of a bottle, stopped with a rubber stopper and covered with sea bran. It was found this week northeast of Cape Lookout Lighthouse. Inside the bottle was a note on a piece of paper smirched with grease. It was a note purporting to be signed by an engineer aboard the Collier Cyclops. The note stated that a German submarine was close by, that all hands had been ordered on board the U-boat and that the ship was then to be torpedoed.

This riddle of the sea becomes more dense with the finding of this bottle. If the men on board the submarine were saved, what became of the submarine. Not a word has ever been discovered of a survivor. What became of the men taken on board the submarine. Was the submarine caught before it reached a home port and in turn sent to the bottom of the sea with all on board including the Cyclops' crew, or did the submarine reach a home port and pass out to the Cyclops' crew an imprisonment worse than death. Are they buried in some German prison burial ground or are they at the bottom of the sea with their captors? Or if they ever reached port, will some survivor will not turn up some day to tell the whole story of the Cyclops?

Eberhart Garage Changes Hands.

The largest single real estate deal between individuals took place this week when George Eberhart sold to Clarence Epley the Eberhart Garage on the southwest corner of Chambersburg and Washington streets, on the Lincoln Highway. The sale includes the garage shop in the rear tenanted by Arthur Hutchinson. The Eberhart Garage is considered the finest garage on the Lincoln Highway between Pittsburg and Philadelphia. The price is said to be $80,000.

George Eberhart has been in the automobile business since its beginning in Gettysburg. He owned the first automobile in Gettysburg, a one cylinder Cadillac, in 1902, and opened the first shop in 1906. In the years 1915 and 1916 he built the handsome garage building. The storage capacity of the garage is 85 cars and with the rear shop 125 cars.

The new purchaser, Clarence Epley, is a Gettysburg boy who has been living around automobiles since a boy, beginning with Murray Long years ago, and he enjoys the goodwill of a host of people, to many of whom he is familiarly known as "Reds" Epley. He served in the Navy during the World War, and afterwards represented the Cadillac Co. in Italy, where he was stationed for some time. His travels took him over eight countries and he learned to speak the Italian language. Upon his return home he secured the agency for the Studebaker cars for Gettysburg and part of the county, and has been successfully handling these cars. He will take possession of the garage on April 1st.

Damage Case to be Retried.

The Supreme Court in the case of Charles Hull vs. Harry E. Bowers, has filed an opinion taking off the nonsuit entered in the case and sending case back for trial before a jury. When the case was tried a nonsuit was ordered to be entered because in the opinion of the Court below there was contributory negligence on the part of the defendant in sitting on the work car of the Hanover & Littlestown Street Railway Co. with his leg dangling over the side of the car so that the left leg was caught and crushed by truck of defendant backing against the work car. In the trial J. D. Swope, Esq., represented the defendant and Robert E. Vible, Esq., and John A. Hooper, Esq., of York, the plaintiff. The result of the decision of the Supreme Court will be that the case will be tried at an early court. The plaintiff claims damages of $18,500 by reason of the accident.

The first children to be tested were those at High School, then at Meade School and the other schools and only those children were tested whose parents consented to the same. Those children who gave positive results are immune from diphtheria and those giving negative results are given inoculations of toxin-antitoxin until they become positive and immune.

THE FOUR POWER TREATY

RATIFIED BY UNITED STATES
SENATE 67 TO 27.

It is the One Treaty of Armament
Conference Upon Which All Opposition Was Centered.

It was twelve Democratic United States Senators who had fought for the Treaty of Honor—the Versailles Treaty—who made it possible to put across the Four Power Treaty, last week, with the necessary two-thirds vote. Democracy gave the treaty just four more than enough to win, showing the party to be above partisanship and that the principles of Wilson fought for, as incorporated in these treaties are the ones the party will support no matter how presented.

The approval of the treaties evidently influenced Woodrow Wilson to write an ex-service man:

"Certainly service men, above all others, are qualified to express their devotion of the principles we believe in. It was for those very principles that they offered their lives. For my own part, I believe those principles to be in themselves so powerful that no political blindness or iniquity can defeat their triumph. I believe that triumph to be immediately at hand, and that we shall very soon, indeed, wipe away the ugly record we made in failing to fulfill the objects for which our gallant comrades fought."

The Pacific treaty signed by representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, as ratified by the Senate yesterday with one reservation reads:

Reservation.
The United States understands that under the statement in the preamble or under the terms of this treaty there is no commitment to armed force, no alliance, no obligation to join in any defense.

Article I.
The high contracting parties agree as between themselves to respect their rights in relation to their insular possessions and insular dominions in the regions of the Pacific Ocean.

If there should develop between any of the high contracting parties a controversy arising out of any Pacific question and involving their said rights which is not satisfactorily settled by diplomacy and is likely to affect the harmonious accord now happily subsisting between them, they shall invite the high contracting parties to a joint conference to which the whole subject will be referred for consideration and adjustment.

Article II.
If the said rights are threatened by the aggressive action of any other power the high contracting parties shall communicate with one another fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding as to the most efficient measures to be taken, jointly and separately, to meet the exigencies of the particular situation.

Article III.
This agreement shall remain in force for ten years from the time it shall take effect, and after the expiration of said period it shall continue to be in force subject to the right of any of the high contracting parties to terminate it upon twelve months' notice.

Article IV.
This agreement shall be ratified as soon as possible in accordance with the constitutional methods of the high contracting parties and shall take effect on the deposit of ratifications, which shall take place at Washington, and thereupon the agreement between Great Britain and Japan, which was concluded at London on July 13, 1911, shall terminate.

GO NO FARTHER.
The Evidence is at Your Door.
Gettysburg proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt:
Charles Rosensteel, prop. blacksmith shop, 315 S. Washington St., Gettysburg, says, "I am of the opinion that there is no better kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. I am a blacksmith and I believe that the heavy work I did was the cause of my kidney trouble. My kidneys were very sore and there were times when they felt like lumps of lead pressing against me. Darting pains bothered me when I bent over to place a shoe. My back was often stiff and lame, but the main trouble was with my kidneys. The kidney secretions seemed to be filled with a heavy sandy-like substance and were too scanty in passage. I was pretty much out of fix when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a couple of boxes of Doan's and by the time I had used them, my back was all right. The kidney secretions were cleared up and the soreness left my kidneys. I was fixed up in a first-class way. Doan's are, in my opinion, a great kidney remedy."

WOULD YOU

LIKE TO BE CALLED

"The Best Dressed Woman in Your Locality?"

Nowhere in the wide world is there a woman who will not answer "Yes." In the orderly display in our store lies the fulfillment of such a wish.

We feel that the merchandise displayed in our store is the best that can be obtained for its price. Skilled designers and workmen have planned and executed, experienced buyers have selected and purchased and the knowledge of having bought it from us is as much a stamp of quality as the "sterling" on silver.

The woman who selects her apparel from our stocks can be always sure of being well and fashionably dressed.

That she may be even more sure of achieving this desired end, we ask her to observe a few simple rules that are age old fundamentals in the romantic art of dress.

Select only colors that are becoming—colors which bring out the tints of the skin, that intensify the color of the hair and eyes. This can be easily decided by holding the various colors against the face. Decide definitely just what type you are.

Are you small and dainty, or are you tall and slender and tailored, or stout and comfortable, or athletic, or imposing.

Be honest with yourself and buy your clothes to fit your personality. It will make you twice as charming. It will make your clothes a part of you, which is the very essence of good costume. And do try to have gloves appropriate to the costume.

We stand ready, in all matters, to serve you with the courtesy and efficiency that is primarily our aim.
